Steve -

The next "pull" of this document is on May 26th. It is the final ready for print (sent to the printer). I will send that version when they post email it on the 26th. There are some wording changes (not DIC messaging) and coolant tank diagram/graphic additions. Let me know if you would want a redline version of the changes. I'll have to request that. The WIP (work in process) versions are all individual html documents that are merged into a PDF for publication.

Thank you -
